

criptional change between interactors as a percentage of total number of conditions in which each gene

